JAPANESE NAVY DEMANDS SATISFACTION

Shanghai Fears Of Hungjao Repercussions

S.M.C. OFFICIALS TAKING PORT IN INVESTIGATION

REAR-ADMIRAL HONDA GIVES WARNING STATEMENT

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT)

Shanghai, To-day.

Investigation of the Hungjao Road incident is proceeding under the supervision of representatives of the Japanese Consulate, the Shanghai Municipal Council, the Japanese Naval Landing Party and the Peace Preservation Corps.

Instructions have been received by Mr. O. K. Yiu from the Nanking Government to settle the matter locally and it is now believed that unless the Japanese naval authorities present impossible demands, a settlement will be achieved without further serious incidents.

Examination of the bodies of Sub-Lieut. Ohyama and Seaman Saito occupied a period between 9 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. yesterday, in the presence of representatives of all the above mentioned authorities.

BRUISES ON BODIES

It is alleged that in addition to bullet wounds, a severe bruise was found at the back of the Lieutenant's neck, suggestive of having been struck with the butt of a rifle.

Seaman Saito also has a severe bruise on the temple, suggesting the use of a rifle after he had been killed.

The Japanese authorities now state that Seaman Saito was carrying a pistol, but when his body was found the weapon had not been discharged. They insist that Sub-Lieut. Ohyama was unarmed. The investigation is still going on.

REAR-ADMIRAL'S WARNING

Rear-Admiral Honda, the Naval Attache to the Japanese Embassy, told pressmen this morning that the Chinese act in Shanghai can be regarded

CIVIL WAR ADJOURNED FOR HEAT SIESTA

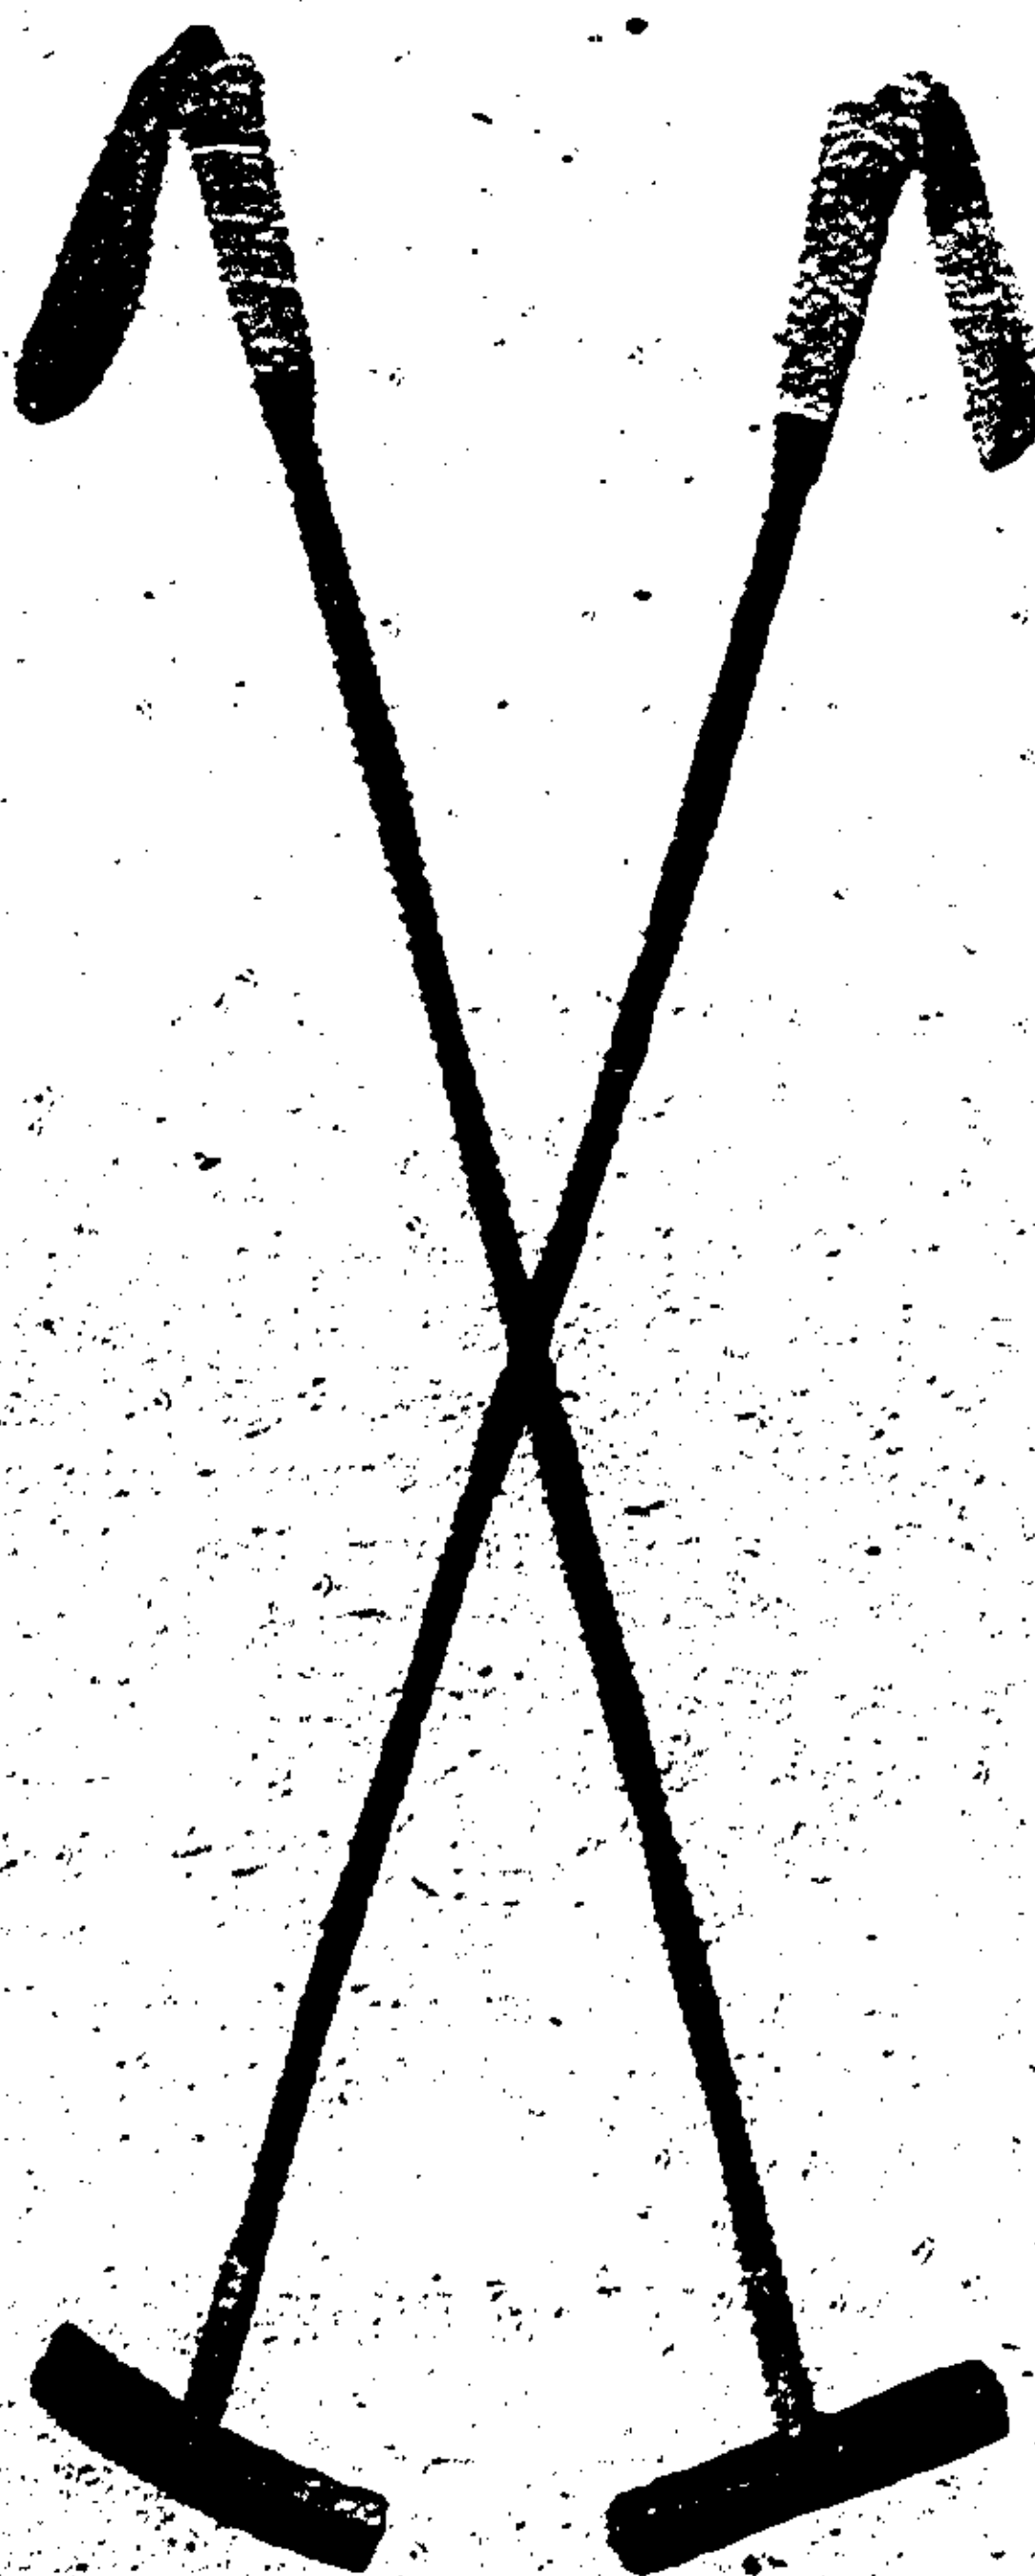

Salamanca, To-day.

All fighting activities on the Spanish fronts ceased at 10 a.m. yesterday owing to the unbearable heat, it is reported from rebel sources.

Earlier in the morning rebel artillery had shelled the enemy positions in and round Aravaca sector, while loyalist surprise attacks near Carabanchel and Usera were repelled.—Trans-Ocean.

The authorities had not only granted Amaleescu's petition that the marriage be permitted, but had also consented to the wedding festivities being held in the prison.

Relatives of the bride and prisoners with good conduct records were allowed to take part, but even at the wedding feast the bridegroom and his best man had to appear in chains. After the banquet, the newly-wedded bride had to leave the jail.—Trans-Ocean.

WHAT BEACH CLOTHES SHOULD YOU WEAR?

It Depends On Whether You Are The Feminine Or Tailored Type

When a woman goes to the beach she does not leave her personality behind her. Disguise herself as she may in the airy unfamiliar clothes of beach life, still she retains her dominant characteristics and the very clothes which she buys tell you her type.

Beach clothes are at the turning of the ways.

Only a very few years ago we wore at the seaside rather more cottony, less dressed versions of the clothes we wore elsewhere. Suddenly came the realisation that outdoor life of that kind meant renewed health, vitality, and a return of youth to many women who had not hoped for such a thing. Discarding as many of their clothes as they could, they sprang to meet what were then medically announced to be the health-giving rays of strong sun. Beach clothes were reduced to a minimum.

Beach Lessons From Africa

The effects were surprising and in many cases painful. Slowly it was remembered that the peoples who are accustomed to hot suns prefer to shade themselves from the rays and wear clothes which, while entirely different from our city gear, were roomy, draped, even voluminous. The results of these fluctuations of mind as how best to benefit from sea and sun has resulted in an outbreak of prettiness on the shores. Lovely flowered cottons riot on our beaches, indeed on the beaches of all the English speaking world, varying from wild flower patternings to Martinique colourings. The British cottons made for the Lagos coasts are the last and most logical word of fashion as to the right type of colouring and patterning for sunny beaches.

Boyish Or Feminine?

Women, however, whatever the story of fashion that lies behind the designing of clothes, keep their types, and the seaside shows the two same types which clearly divide dress in all its branches. There has to be designed beach wear for the tailored type of women and for the feminine type, for the woman on the one hand who loves neatness and a workman-like quality in all she wears, and, on the other, for the woman who loves prettiness, romance, and even an amusing element in dressing, particularly for holiday times. What are both of these types buying to take with them to the plage, the seaside, or on the yacht?

Twins Of Striped Lisle

The tailored woman considers with a dispassionate eye whether her figure is the kind that will take slacks and shorts. If it is she is happy. She buys slacks in flannel, in linens, in sailcloth, even in tussore (a revived fabric for this year). She also wears shorts, but these rather longer than in former years, and often pleated down the sides. (For those that are much pleated there are little undershorts in linen or jersey.) With slacks she wears waistlength matching ("twin") pullovers of striped lisle with dark, plain turnover collar and sleeve cuffs above the elbow, and plain cardigans to tone.

Sandals And Blinkers

Green and grey, red and grey, navy and white are her favourite colourings. Stripes or plain self

How to Get a Sun-Tan

Eleanor Norris, of New York City, demonstrates the best method of getting a sun tan on a table overlooking Biscayne Bay, at Miami, Fla. The tan couldn't make her look any prettier, could it?

colours are her choice, with an occasional breaking out into overchecks of the plaid kind. Flannel jackets have this year a rival in tailored striped jackets of the blazer type.

Whilst the feminine beach-lounger wears sandals, she will keep to simple low-heeled shoes. She can be recognised by her dark sun-glasses (this year often with side shields like blinkers). A neat skull cap, "calotte," of grey flannel, navy linen, or whatever goes with her outfit is her favourite wear; but if she is fair, and has to avoid the sun, she will tie a man's type bandanna or linen handkerchief round her hair, and even top it with a huge plain straw hat.

The Backless Dress

Supposing that the tailored woman cannot wear shorts or slacks? Tailored linen or tussore dresses are then her beach wear, often made with the trouser-skirt, culotte, which it is hard to recognise in its disguised cut. Backless striped dresses worn over shorts, topped by brief cardigans, are equally good for her. So are the coat-dresses worn over shorts.

Slick, neat, beautifully trim and tailored as this type is, yet there is fun being missed if she is not inclined to make excursions into the more feminine beach clothes market. For the feminine type of holiday, woman goes buying extraordinarily attractive cottons made up into natty playsuits worn over either shorts or trunks, or lives her day out on the shore in bathing suits covered by long, neat-waisted coats of brightly coloured cottons and linens, coats that often have hoods to protect the head from the sun.

Clothes that are flowered, spotted, or plaided are rivalled by bold gypsy stripes and colourings. The dress designers have designed every sort of fantasy for this type of woman, fisherwomen's striped full shirts or aprons, lobster catchers' clothes, workmen's overalls worn over shirts or pullovers, peasants' dresses adapted. Yet this year beach clothes, even of the romantic and feminine type, do not look right unless there is a great measure of tailoring about them, tailored waists, neat skirts, fitted bodices.

What are the compromises between these almost opposed types? The tailored beach woman wears short mess jackets with her skirts or slacks. She wears hooded short beach coats of linens or cottons lined with towelling. She likes the pleated skirts to wear with her neat short-sleeved shirts. She likes the plaid gingham and she even likes the barbaric jewellery for the beach which Chanel in Paris shows with slacks and pullovers.

Colours For The Tailored And Romantic

There is no colour difference between tailored and romantic. You would say that the former liked the hot browns and sailcloth reds of this year, the greens and white navy and whites, while the woman in the playsuits preferred sea and pale blues, cyclamen pinks with grey and black, the yellows with orange.

In fact you will find grey slacks worn with a cyclamen shirt or a pale blue shirt of striped cotton, and equally the flowered playsuits in hibiscus flower patterns are coloured in navy and white, in dark green or white, or in sailcloth browns and reds.

Children's Colic

Colic is a common trouble with infants and little children. Gas forms in the stomach and bowels and the consequent pain causes the child to cry out, he draws his legs up close to the body and refuses to be quieted.

Baby's Own Tablets are his urgent need, and mothers should have these handy for just such an emergency. Keep the bowels and lower limbs warm and administer Baby's Own Tablets according to the directions and usually the colic will quickly vanish.

Baby's Own Tablets are equally helpful for the correction of many other childish ailments such as constipation, vomiting, diarrhoea, colds and croup, simple fever, and worms. And during the troublesome teething period, they quickly ease the pain by settling the stomach and relieving inflammation in the gums. Obtainable at all chemists.

Baby's Own Tablets.

BRIDGE NOTES

By ELY CULBERTSON

One Move Too Soon

On almost every difficult hand there is one play that will make or break the declarer. It may be nothing more involved than a finesse, or it may be one of the complicated types of coups. But, regardless of the simplicity or complexity of the necessary manoeuvre, the crucial point is apt to be the time at which it is used.

In the hand shown below, the declarer needed nothing more than a finesse to fulfill his doubled contract. The finesse succeeded, but the fact that declarer had tried it one trick too soon proved his undoing.

South, dealer.

North-South vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 heart	2 diamonds	2 hearts
5 diamonds	Double Pass		Pass
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's bidding may appear to have been over-aggressive, but this was not actually the case. North had given him a free raise and South could not have been blamed if, after that, he had insisted on a slam. North's raise was of the type that almost invariably leads to calamity. His one honour trick and singleton were not ample compensation for his inadequate trump support. Moreover, a free raise of a minor suit particularly implies, though it does not guarantee, four trumps.

West, feeling that the redouble called for special measures, decided against a heart opening and lead, instead his fourth best spade, Dummy's ace won, and a heart was led to the ace. A low heart was ruffed, and declarer's hand entered with the club ace. A third heart was ruffed, and now declarer made his fatal error.

With the necessity of reentering his hand in order to ruff his last heart with dummy's ten of diamonds, he used a problematical entry instead of a sure one. On the assumption that the club finesse would have to be taken sooner or later, he took it at this point. West ruffed, and promptly banded down the ace of trumps, thus prohibiting a heart ruff. The contract was down one.

Although the declarer had been right in his decision to finesse against the club queen rather than attempt to drop it, his effort had premature by just one trick. It was vital for him to ruff the fourth heart, and the only sure method of doing this was to enter his hand by ruffing a spade. Only after all the hearts had been taken care of should the club finesse have been risked. The second club lead still would have been ruffed by West, but the opponents would have been held to this ruff and the ace of trumps.

TO-DAY'S QUESTION.

Question: I was the dealer and hesitated some time before I finally decided to pass. An opponent claimed this to be unethical. Was he justified?

Answer: The inference is unmistakably that you have a good hand. It is not unethical, however, to hesitate before making a bid.

BRITAIN'S BARGAIN FOR PEACE WITH ITALY

ROME, TO-DAY.

BRITAIN'S WILLINGNESS TO RECOGNISE THE ITALIAN
CONQUEST OF ABYSSINIA AND TO INVITE THE
LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO DO
LIKEWISE, IS ALLEGED TO BE THE BASIS FOR THE
ANGLO-ITALIAN RAP-PROCHEMENT MOVES WHICH HAVE ATTRACTED CON-SIDERABLE ATTENTION IN THE LAST TEN DAYS.

The forecast is contained in "La Stampa," an Italian newspaper close to the Italian Government and generally considered to be well-informed.

The journal carries a prediction of the whole of the scope of the proposed new Anglo-Italian accord,
as follows:

Geneva's recognition of the Italian Empire in Abyssinia is to be expected in the first fortnight in September;

The negotiation of a new Anglo-
Italian accord is to be expected at the end of summer.

The accord will amplify the "Gentleman's Agreement" regarding the Mediterranean, but will be more definite.

"The two Governments," says
La Stampa, "will present a series of requests which will require careful examination. The points of contact of the two nations will no longer be limited to the Mediterranean but will cover the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean."—

DOGS WITHOUT MUZZLES

Mr. F. M. Ellis, of No. 455, The Peak, was fined $15 by Mr. Keen at the Central Magistracy for allowing his dog abroad without muzzle or lead on July 31 in Stubbs Road.

The summons against Mr. J. T.
Prior, of No. 55 the Peak, for a similar offence, was adjourned for 2 week.

Owing to the absence of the constable who took out the summons,
Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning discharged Madame Chiffon of No. 5, Shouson Hill Road, who was summoned for allowing her dogs abroad without a muzzle or lead.

Madame Chiffon denied that the dogs were in a public thoroughfare and said that they were on her own property.

Ricsha Puller Killed

Sik Wing, a ricsha puller, was fatally injured at 7 p.m. last night in Nathan Road, when he was jammed between car No. 1244, driven by Mr.
G. F. Wood, and bus No. 638.

He was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital suffering from severe injuries to his face and body and died at 10 p.m.

Suffering from a shock sustained while repairing his radio set, Sin Hong-wai of No. 16, Thompson Road, was admitted to the Queen Mary Hospital.

TYPHOON VEERS NORTH

Latest Manila reports on the typhoon indicate that it has veered sharply north and is unlikely to constitute a threat to the coast in this region.

The position given at 9.45 a.m.
was about Long. 128 E., Lat. 20 N. moving North-North-West, which would carry the depression between Formosa and the Loochoos.

The Colony experienced fairly heavy rains yesterday, the total fall registered at the Royal Observatory being 1.25 inches, bringing the total for the year to 58.81 inches.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 83. To-day it warmed up appreciably and the 10 a.m. temperature was 84 degrees.

FAIR TO SHOWERY

The Royal Observatory reports that pressure is now highest over Japan, and the Pacific to the eastward; a trough of relatively low pressure extends from South-West
China, south-eastward to the Western Carolines.

Forecast:—S. winds, moderate;
fair to showery.

SMUGGLERS NOT QUICK ENOUGH FOR OFFICERS

A fine of $75 was imposed on
Chan Sap-ng, a fisherman, by Mr.
K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning when charged with having 11 pounds of tobacco on his junk, the duty on which had not been paid.

Mr. C. A. S. Russ appeared for the defendant and pleaded guilty.
He asked for leniency as the tobacco had been taken aboard by some of the foks for their own use and on the arrival of the Revenue officers had dumped the tobacco overboard.
Mr. Russ further stated that his client had been very honest about the whole affair and told the Revenue officers all he knew.

Senior Revenue officer Grimmitt stated that the tobacco which was tied up in a pair of trousers and weighted with lead was thrown over board on the arrival of the revenue officers but did not sink quickly enough. The duty on the tobacco was $15. The confiscation of the sampan could be asked for but they were not doing so as they were satisfied that the defendant was a genuine fisherman and not a professional smuggler.

HORE-BELISHA EXPLAINS SCHEME TO ENHANCE ATTRACTION OF THE ARMY

London, To-day.

The Secretary for War, Mr. Hore-Belisha gave a broadcast talk last evening on the new army experiment.

His announcement was to the effect that the Government had decided first to allow serving soldiers who, having enlisted, as is the present general practice for 7 years with the colours and 5 on the reserve, are about to complete their Colour service, to extend it, and secondly to allow reservists of certain classes to rejoin the colours.

Both serving soldiers and reservists who rejoin will on the completion of 12 years' service, be eligible to re-engage to complete 21 years' service so as to qualify for pension.

LIMITED PERIOD

Explaining the experiment, which is for a limited period, so that the response may show how far the alteration of the terms of Army service on these lines meets the desire of those who take to a soldier's profession, Mr. Hore-Belisha said he was told that one of the chief anxieties of the serving soldier had been his inability to continue in a profession which he had mastered and liked.

Under the new offer, his mind would be set at rest. He would know the State would use his services normally till he had completed 21 years' total service, generally at about 40 years of age.

JOB PROBLEM

Under the present system, a soldier is bound to leave the Colours after a limited period and although a good soldier he often cannot find another job. The proposal was to give him a job in his own profession with a pension attached to it and it would be a consolation to him to know that at the time of his discharge he would, while still in the prime of his life, have something coming in.

In fact, the offer met the frequent assertion that the soldier ought to get more for his service for under the new scheme a pension was in effect added to his pay. That would give greater confidence not only to the soldier himself but also to his family.—British Wireless.

PASTOR'S TRIAL POSTPONED

Berlin, To-day.

The trial of the famous evangelical pastor, A. Martin Niemöller, which was announced will begin on August 10 before a special court, has been postponed owing to the necessity of collecting further evidence.

It is stated that the trial is not expected to take place before the end of August or the beginning of September. It will be recalled that Niemöller was indicted on a charge of having abused the liberty of the pulpit and also under the so-called treachery law.

"FIRST-HAND" INFORMATION REPUDIATED

London, To-day.

In view of certain reports regarding interviews alleged to have been given to the Press by the international observing officer who was injured during the attack from the air on 6th August, made against the Italian ship, Mongioia, the International Non-intervention Board issued a considered statement last night that it considered it necessary to state that no communication of any kind had been made to press by the observing officer or by any other officer on board.—British Wireless.

REBELS DENY BOMBING

Seville, To-day.

General Queipo del Lano, in an address broadcast last night from the Seville radio station, declared with emphasis that the dropping of bombs on French, British and Italian steamers in the Mediterranean could only have been the work of Bolsheviks acting under the orders from Moscow, the object being to unleash another European conflict.

There could be no doubt, declared the General, that aeroplanes working from the base on the Balearic Island of Minorca, had conducted these cowardly attacks.—Trans-Ocean.

FOREIGN PRESS ASSOCIATION CALL MEETING IN BERLIN

German Reprisal May Result In Repercussions

AIR LESSON OF SPANISH CIVIL WAR

Valencia, To-day.

A bulletin issued by the Government states that loyalist forces succeeded yesterday in blowing up a rebel powder magazine on the Madrid front.

On the Teruel front, the town of Frido was bombarded by Nationalist artillery, while the loyalist batteries shelled the town of Bezas. Gea and Bezas were bombed from the air on Monday.

An article in a Toulouse paper, contributed by General Armingaud, examines the course of events in the Spanish civil war and pay special attention to the importance of the role played by aircraft.

He comes to the conclusion the operations have conclusively proved that, in any war, the nation or group which holds preponderance in the air also holds the advantage on land.

He warns the French Government to follow the example of other countries and to largely increase the output of powerful planes. — Trans-Ocean.

THREE YEARS IN THE ANTARCTIC

London, To-day.

The Polar research steamer Penola which was sent out by the Royal Geographical Society three years ago, has arrived home again, reaching Portsmouth yesterday from the Antarctic.

The expedition, had devoted its investigations chiefly to Grahamland and the result of their searches is apparently that this territory was found to consist not of a group of islands as had formerly been supposed but of a peninsula of the Antarctic Continent.

Furthermore, it was established that a continuation of the Andes Mountains was found in the Antarctic. — Trans-Ocean.

COLONIAL PAPER HAS "AIRMAIL EDITION"

London, To-day.

Following the abolition of the special airmail fee on postal matter between Britain and her overseas colonies, the colonial paper "East Africa and Rhodesia" is the first periodical in the world to publish a regular airmail edition. The paper is published on extremely thin, so-called "tissue paper," and will be in the hands of subscribers five days after publication. — Trans-Ocean.

BILBAO BANK— SECURITIES LANDED

Paris, To-day.

The trade unions have permitted La Rochelle dock workers to land 9,000 cases containing securities and documents of the Bank of Bilbao, which were aboard the steamers seized by the French authorities in La Rochelle harbour. Confiscation of the cargo is expected. — Trans-Ocean.

THE MARECHAL LYAUTEY INCIDENT

Paris, To-day.

The French authorities have published the result of the investigation made on occasion of the incident which occurred in Las Palmas, when the French liner "Marechal Lyautey" called at that port on July 26.

The incident, it will be recalled, occurred when the crew of the French liner tried to prevent Spanish Nationalist authorities from arresting three Spaniards of military age on board the liner.

Since the crew had warned the captain that they would not permit the arrest of the Spaniards, the Nationalist authorities had to recourse to force and a detachment of soldiers boarded the liner and arrested the three men.

The investigation now shows that the authorities were acting within their rights, since the Franco-Spanish Agreement of 1862 entitles Spanish authorities to arrest Spanish nationals aboard French ships, when these ships call at Spanish ports, provided the French Consuls have been duly notified in advance, as was the case in the present instance. — Trans-Ocean.

RED CROSS APPEAL FOR REFUGEES IN MEXICO

Salamanca, To-day.

The Red Cross Society of Spain has asked the International Red Cross Society to take steps to bring about the return of Spanish children sent to Mexico during the retreat from Bilbao.

They state that the children in Mexico City are housed in inadequate premises, where hygienic conditions are most primitive and that the nourishment of the children is very poor. — Trans-Ocean.

The R.M.S. "Empress of Canada" left Vancouver for Hong Kong, via Honolulu, Japan ports and Shanghai, on Saturday and is due at Hong Kong on August 27.

HOME OFFICE REMAINS SECRETIVE ON REASON FOR GERMAN EXPULSIONS

Berlin, To-day.

An official announcement on the journalist question, says that the British Government has been officially requested to use its influence with "The Times" for the recall of their Berlin correspondent, Norman Ebbutt, within a fortnight, otherwise his permit to stay will be cancelled.

THE MEASURE IS NECESSARY BECAUSE MR. EBBUTT FOR YEARS HAS PERFORMED HIS WORK ONLY IN A SPIRIT HOSTILE TO GERMANY, THUS ABUSING THE HOSPITALITY GRANTED HIM BY THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT.

Further measures against journalists in Berlin is apparently foreshadowed in an article in the "Boersen Zeitung," which is usually in close touch with official opinion.

The paper states that again and again Germany has postponed measures solely in the interests of relations between Germany and Great Britain and has pressed for peace between the two countries.

In view of the British action in expelling German correspondents, Germany has naturally no reason to postpone the measures which long ago proved so urgently necessary and added that it may be taken for granted that the measures taken against Norman Ebbutt will be preferred against further foreign correspondents who do not content themselves with their own journalistic work, but who have to a great extent interfered in German home politics.

Meanwhile, the Foreign Press Association has called an extraordinary general meeting to consider the situation. — Reuter.

BRITISH ATTITUDE

London, To-day.

It is learned that no steps at the moment have been taken by the British Government with regard to the expulsion of the Times' correspondent in Berlin.

No extra-journalistic activities are alleged against Norman Ebbutt. The reason for his projected expulsion is that he is not persona grata; whereas it is understood that the reason for expelling of the German correspondents from England was the damaging of Anglo-German relations through activities other than those coming within the normal sphere of journalists. — Reuter.

NO HOME OFFICE STATEMENT

London, To-day.

As the Home Office will make no further statement on the expulsion from England of the three German correspondents, the "Evening Standard" says that the reasons will probably remain a mystery.

The measure, it has been officially stated, had no connection with the journalistic work of the men in question.

The "Evening Standard," however, learns that the authorities are considering further measures in connection with the political activities of Germans living in England. As circles close to the British Government state, the Government will take no step regarding the expulsion of the Berlin "Times" correspondent, Mr. Norman Ebbutt, whose expulsion from Germany was decreed as retaliation by the German Government. The British Government is said to consider the matter of British and German expulsions as terminated. — Trans-Ocean.

HEADS OF HITLER ORGANISATION

London, To-day.

While Whitehall maintains secrecy regarding the reasons prompting the expulsion of German journalists, the newspaper diplomatic and other correspondents are more outspoken.

The "Daily Herald" says that Hitler's organisation in England, which is said to include more than 500 agents has "an inner ring" operating at Bayswater, the heads of which were expelled journalists.

The agents' tasks were to watch, shadow and report on Germans in England. — Reuter.

FRENCH PLAN FOR RAILWAYS

Paris, To-day.

The meeting of the Council of Ministers which had been convened for to-day, was postponed until August 24 or 25 in order to give time for preparation of an extremely important step concerning the future of French railways.

The plan under deliberation is to form a new company to take over all the existing railroads of France, the majority of the shares to be held by the French Government.

This new procedure is in many quarters regarded merely as a first step towards complete nationalisation of the whole of the French railway system. — Trans-Ocean.

PEAK TRAM LANDSLIDE

Sixty-Ton Crash Completely Disrupts Line

COOLIES WORK ALL NIGHT TO CLEAR PASSAGE

Passengers on board the Peak Tram received a severe shock yesterday afternoon, when just before reaching the Barker Road Station, an avalanche of earth and rocks came thundering down from the hillside, completely blocking the track, disconnecting the electric current between the two terminuses, and causing a disruption in the service which up to the time of going to press had not been resumed.

The accident occurred during the 1.50 p.m. service yesterday.

About 50 yards below the Barker Road Station, the tram coming from the Lower Terminus was suddenly stopped when over 60 tons of earth and rocks crashed on to the track in front of the vehicle as a result of a landslide.

WIRES CARRIED OUT

The avalanche not only blocked the track but also carried away in its descent the over-head wires, severing the electric current from the vehicles.

Coolies were immediately rushed to the scene and worked throughout the night in clearing the track. Experts were also hastily summoned to repair the severed wires.

It is believed that the recent heavy rains was the cause of the landslide.

INDEPENDENCE COMMISSION FOR MANILA

Shanghai, To-day.

Travelling to the Philippines to lay the groundwork for the independence of the Islands, President Manuel Quezon and a combined commission of leading American and Filipino officials, headed by Mr. MacMurray, former United States Minister to China, arrived in Shanghai to-day by the s.s. President Hoover.

Questioned about his mission, President Quezon said he hoped that the Secretary Commission would produce a report that will be acceptable to both the American and Philippine Governments and the people.

In explaining the aim of the Commission, Mr. MacMurray said, "We seek an economic adjustment with which to avoid tumbling the Filipinos off the cliff, economically speaking, when they are given independence."

Mr. MacMurray explained that complete independence of the islands would take place in 1946.—Reuter.

Mr. A. R. H. Phillips, manager of Taikoo Sugar Refinery, has reported that some one entered the store by cutting a hole in the roof last night, and stole a quantity of metals valued at $124.

FEW RAIDS PIERCE LONDON AIR DEFENCE

London, To-day.

Owing to unfavourable weather reports, the Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief the Fighter Command of the Royal Air Force, who is in control of the air defence exercises over London, postponed the second phase of exercises due to begin at 6 o'clock last evening until the same hour to-day.

In course of the 15 hours of the first phase, over 30 raids were made on set objectives and about 400 aircraft were engaged.—British-Wireless.

EIGHT BREAK THROUGH

London, To-day.

During the constant sham attacks made on vulnerable points in the metropolitan area early yesterday morning, the attacking bombing squadrons succeeded in eight instances in breaking through the defence lines without challenge and reaching their objectives.

Although the manoeuvres were to some extent, impeded by unfavourable weather, no casualties have been reported so far, although one of the bombing raiders was compelled to make an emergency landing in a field to the north of London.

CROWDED ROOFS

The Air Minister, Lord Swinton, is following the manoeuvres personally with the keenest interest, flying from aerodrome to aerodrome, to watch the work of the ground crews.

The crowded roofs of numerous buildings in the metropolitan area showed the keen public interest.—Trans-Ocean.

Bucharest, To-day.

It is learned that the annual meeting of the Council of the Little Entente will take place on August 28th in Sinaia. The Foreign Ministers of Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia are expected to confer for two days.

King Carol will be at Sinaia at the time of the conference and will receive the three ministers.—Trans-Ocean.

PUBLIC PARKS FOR COLONIAL AGITATION

Berlin, To-day

A new propaganda campaign for the return of the former German Colonies was staged in Hamburg yesterday.

In the lakes and public gardens which are frequented by the English community, models of German steamers and torpedo boats were placed on the waters of the lake, while miniature palm trees and tropical scenes were created on the sides of the lake, indicating the German colonies.

Loud speakers announced at intervals, "We are building gigantic fleets of merchantmen and a strong Navy to trade and protect our Colonies. We must have back our Colonies for no great nation can go for long without Colonies."—Reuter.

FRANCO NOTE DENIES BOMB ATTACKS

London, To-day.

The Nationalist Spanish Government's reply to the note of the British Government protesting against the bombardment of the British tanker British Corporal rejects most emphatically all responsibility for the incident, according to the "Evening Standard."

The Spanish Note declares:

1. That on the day on which the bombardment took place the Nationalist Spanish Air Force was not in that region;
2. The Nationalist Spanish Air stationed at Palma has never done patrol service near Algiers;
3. The Note asserts that proof can be furnished of the existence in Cartagena an organisation whose aim it is to create the impression that Nationalist Spanish aeroplanes adopt a hostile attitude against neutral shipping.

FRANCO CHARGES

In this connection, the Note goes on to allege, that the Cartagena organisation is controlled by a Russian military mission, and has at its disposal a number of aeroplanes with the same markings as Nationalist planes.

This fact the Note says had already been brought to the attention of British Naval authorities on which occasion the Nationalist Government uttered a warning against the possibility of provocations.—Trans-Ocean.

HOW THEY GOT THE GIRL TO SAY "YES"

THIS proposal business is just a trifle difficult. Ask any man! You blurt it out when you don't mean to and when you do mean to, the words won't come.

It's a vicious merry-go-round. And then there's the approach. Very important that—the approach.

Should it be done with gravity, elegance and fire as the Latins do or with the dazzling simplicity of the "Let's get tied, what do you say, kid?" variety.

Yes—a whole bright world of possibilities lies in the proposal field—and Hollywood has tested them all.

In fact, a close study and thorough analysis of Hollywood proposals reveal such a variety of methods as to meet every circumstance or occasion, bar none.

Benny Baker had taken Marjorie Chapin Wellman to witness her most ardent diversion, a football game.

The ball was on the three-yard line, fourth down. Marjorie was fairly tearing her hair.

"Touchdown!" she shrieked.

"Will you marry me?" Benny howled in her ear.

"Yes!" yelled the excited Marjorie. "Touchdown."

It was a touchdown. Marjorie collected her wits and a startled expression stole over her face.

"Did I say I'll marry you?" she demanded of the Paramount comedian.

"You did. And we'll be married as soon as the football season is over. I'll not spend my honeymoon in a grandstand," was Benny's bland retort.

Charles Boyer had been paying considerable attention to blonde little Pat Patterson, but there was no indication that a marriage was impending.

One evening they decided to see a stage play at El Capitan theatre on Hollywood Boulevard.

At the ticket window they said: "Sorry, we're sold out."

"Well, now what shall we do?" asked Pat.

"Let's get married," said Charles Boyer.

In this state of mild shock they telephoned the airport, chartered a plane, and flew to Yuma. Before either had recovered from the surprise they were married. To judge from their case obeying that impulse has only happy results.

Jack Oddie, who used to kid romance and whose favourite gag was "Marry me, and become the mother of a genius," was simply and completely sunk when love hit him.

He didn't have a comeback.

All he can recall is rushing home to Mother Offield and getting her out of bed to tell her he had met Varden and she was the one girl.

"I've heard that before," said Ma.

"But we're going to be married!" cried Jack, and sure enough they were.

Chester Morris and Sue Kilborn: He proposed one Saturday night after the performance of a stage show in which they appeared, they were married in Atlantic City the next morning, and were back in time for the curtain call, only to read on the bulletin board a notice that the show was closing.

They came to Hollywood with nothing but a couple of suitcases but they stuck it out, and now all's well.

Gene Markey had marked Joan Bennett from afar, when he saw her on the New York stage. In Hollywood, where Joan started making pictures, Gene mapped his courtship.

Joan was in love with somebody else, as everyone knew, but the clever plotter shrugs his shoulders at a little thing like that.

When Joan broke her hip in a fall from a horse, Gene sent flowers and friendly little notes. Eventually he had permission to call, and soon he was in her very good graces as a kind and generous friend.

He was such a nice haven of refuge, so good with advice about pictures. A famous playwright, he could tell her what's what. Lucky girl, having a big brother like Gene...only Gene had no intention of acquiring a sister.

He was taking her to see one of her pictures.

He would tell her what he thought of it, perhaps make some suggestions on how to improve...

"Joan, will you marry me?"

"But—but—don't you want to wait until you see my picture?" stuttered Joan.

The big build-up got results, and Joan's reply remains a classic.

The persistent proposal delicately manoeuvred by Franchot Tone proved effective with Joan Crawford.

"By the way, Joan," he would say in an understone as somebody passed them the cake, "when did you say we were getting married?"

Or, between shots on the tennis court: "Shall we make it—say, next Friday?"

The dryly humorous Mr. Tone knew very well how to handle the proposal problem with a girl like Joan Crawford.

Harmon Nelson had been out of college for three months when he sat down with his sweetheart, Bette Davis, to talk things over in a practical fashion. Bette was a movie actress. "Ham" an unknown musician and singer.

"People probably will call me a gigolo husband," said Ham. "They'll sometimes speak of you as 'Mr. Davis,'" smiled Bette.

"We'll often be separated by work, and I can't support you in the style to which you'd like to be accustomed," grinned Ham.

"And they'll have us getting a divorce half the time," laughed Bette. "But—we'll get along all right."

The Proxy proposal is frequently used by men who grow tongue-tied in the face of romance. Valentin Parera, handsome Spaniard, fell in love with prima donna Grace Moore.

Handicapped by language limitations, he marked a poetic passage in a book to show Grace his regard.

Pat O'Brien had been proposing to Eloise Taylor for several years. They were riding in a rickshaw at Coney Island.

"Let's get married, or something," said Pat.

"We'll get married, or nothing," retorted Eloise. And, by jingo, they were!

THE WORLD GOES BY By "ULYSSES"

I CAN'T sleep in the office any more. And that is a serious thing for me. Ever since I first started in Big Business, and worked myself up from nothing to my present state of extreme poverty, I have been sleeping in offices; consistently, determinedly and so far quite successfully. It was difficult when I first began. People could see that I was asleep. But soon nature's protective devices began to work, and I developed the faculty of being sound asleep in my chair, and no one was any the wiser. I hold my head in my hands and prop myself in such a position that my closed eyes cannot be seen. Ask me a question and I reply intelligently and with only the merest time lag. It is an easy and a valuable thing to be able to do. You sit there motionless in your chair, dead to the world—someone enters your room, and then quietly and reverently tiptoes out, again under the impression that you are deep in thought and must not be disturbed. And the sweet dreams drift softly on. Now something has happened. The noise in my office has gradually increased to such a pitch that I am suffering from that dreaded worker's disease—mid-day insomnia. A few days ago I awoke with a start just before teatime. It was the last straw. I got out an atlas and peered at the China coast. I looked for a place where quietness and peace might be possible. After looking at my old haunts in North China, and shuddering, I turned to Hong Kong and saw a possibility in a place not a thousand miles away.

My friends think I am crazy when I say I just want to lie down and do nothing. But in this place—that's different! There they think you are crazy if you want to get up off the beach and start something! And so to this place I went. It costs you little to get there and little after you arrive. If you are from Yorkshire or Scotland you will appreciate the advantage of this. It is also nice and quiet. The landscape is boisterous compared with the inhabitants, who have got a new and refreshing slant on life.

It was dusk when I met Arthur on the beach. I thought he was dead. He lay motionless. I removed a non-existent hat reverently, believing that he had passed on. But as I watched him, my heart grievous that one so young should have died, I noticed a faint breathing. Arthur had neither passed out nor passed on—he was just breathing. He opened his eyes slowly, and then closed them, exhausted by the violent exertion.

I said: Had a hard day?

Arthur said: Why?

Me: I expect you need a rest.

Arthur: Why?

Me: Well, most of us like a nice sit down after we've finished our work.

Arthur: Why?

Me: Well, don't you?

Arthur: I don't work.

Me: Never?

Arthur: Never.

Me: But you must do something!

Arthur: Why?

Me: Well, we all like to do something, don't we?

Arthur: Why?

Me: Makes a change from doing nothing, for one thing, doesn't it?

Arthur: Why?

And then in a blinding flash I realised that I was, face to face with the High Prophet of Inaction, the Prince of Idlers, the Monk of Immediacy, the Champion of doing Nothing.

I knew that here I had met my master. It was late when I left Arthur, and a great yellow moon shone over the darkened sea. He had neither moved nor spoken for over two hours. I stole softly away. A light blinked and winked at the silent scene. But it made me vaguely uneasy. I thought it might disturb Arthur.

Wholesale Chinese Evacuation Now Under Way

Nanking, To-day.

The Chinese Government have instructed all consulates to arrange for the evacuation of all Chinese residents in Korea, totalling some 80,000 mostly of the labour class. Already approximately 4,500 have left, 3,000 are prepared to leave in the next two or three days and the Consul-General here has requested the Governor of Korea to place ships at the disposal of the Chinese refugees.

The foreign ministry has also communicated with all Chinese Consulates in Japan, instructing them to prepare for complete evacuation of all Chinese citizens and to concentrate them at Kobe, Yokohama and Nagasaki.

It is reported that six boats have been chartered by the Nanking Government to proceed to Japan to carry out this wholesale withdrawal. — Our Own Correspondent.

GEN. BLUECHER'S WHEREABOUTS

"Review Of Troops At Ulan Bator"

Moscow, To-day.

It is reported that Marshal Bluecher, Commander-in-Chief of the Soviet Far East forces, has recently been in Moscow and had secret conversations with Stalin. Soviet political circles believe that the situation in North China was the object of Marshal Bluecher's trip.

The Marshal has, in the meantime, again left Moscow for Ulan Bator, capital of Outer Mongolia, where, immediately upon arrival, he held a review of troops and presented them, on behalf of the Soviet Government, with eight gun batteries and 200 machineguns.

Rumours are persistent that Soviet Russia will soon send a quantity of munitions to China, as well as several military advisers. — Trans-Ocean.

SHANGHAI CRISIS

Rumour Of Japanese Attack Plan

Shanghai, To-day.

It is learned that Japanese men-of-war and merchantmen have been ordered out of the Whangpoo within thirty hours.

At a mass meeting attended by elements representative of all Chinese walks of life, it was resolved that strong representation be made to the Nanking Government to despatch an army to drive the enemy forces out of Shanghai altogether. The motion asked that General

Tsai Ting-kai, who distinguished himself in the "Shanghai War" should be made Commander-in-Chief of all troops stationed in Shanghai and Woosung, because of his past experience.

It is reported here that at a joint conference of the War and Navy Ministries at Tokyo, a plan has been evolved by which an army of 75,000 strong assisted by a fleet of sixty warships may be sent to China for the purpose of seizing control of the Shanghai area. — Da-Dao.

SHOOTING DISCUSSION

Shanghai, To-day.

The tense situation in Shanghai has somewhat relaxed.

Mr. O. K. Yui, Mayor of Greater Shanghai, called on the Japanese authorities yesterday to explain the cause of the incident. He said that the Japanese victims involved trespassed on the forbidden area of the Hungjao Aerodrome.

The Japanese allegation that the Japanese victims carried no arms when they appeared at Hungjao Aerodrome is denied by Chinese authorities, who point to dead militiamen and claim to have arms taken from the bodies by Chinese soldiers. — Hua Nan.

CORRESPONDENCE

JAMES JARVIE

(To the Editor, "China Mail")

Sir.—In 1932 a young man named James Jarvie became a member of the National Mutual Life Association, and in Sept. 1933, he paid his second annual premium. His age had not been admitted and he was to bring in proof of age the next day.

He then left for Scotland where he was to live at Grangemouth. Letters have frequently been written to him, bonus certificates and premium notices and statements of his policy have been sent and advice to apply for non-tropical residence rebate, but no word has been received from him.

He had paid $473.30 on a $5,000 policy, and it was supposed that his policy had lapsed, but he has lately died, it is said that he died five days before the policy would have lapsed, so was still a member.

His mother if alive should receive $5,000 and about $400 in bonuses, from which must be deducted over $800 owing in premiums and interest.

Can any one give any information about this member who was an Engineer or officer on a steamer in the East? Any information will be gratefully received.

JAPAN'S FEARS

There is increasing reason to suppose that Soviet Russia's place in the picture of the North China crisis is larger than is generally appreciated. The withdrawal from the Yangtze indicated Japan's desire to avoid complications. The Hungjao Incident, sufficiently provocative to furnish a casus belli in the Shanghai area had it been in line with policy, was remarkable for the strange self-imposed restraint of the Japanese Naval Landing Party, and remains a remarkable witness to Japan's determination not to countenance diversion if it can possibly be avoided.

Only one explanation seems logical. Japan has one eye on China and the other, even more watchful, upon Russia.

More than once recently, Moscow has shown itself ready for trouble and inclined towards disposal of her eastern rival quickly if the opportunity, with promise of success, arose. Up to the time of the Japano-Nazi anti-Communist Pact, to which Prince Konoye referred significantly last week, Moscow had been showing a conciliatory attitude. It was ready to grant a 10-year renewal of the fishing treaty and to permit Japanese exploitation of the North Saghalien oilfields. But the Berlin agreement was signal for a stern face and, in effect, Tokyo was dared to start a quarrel, as it has been several times since, on the Amur River and elsewhere.

In some quarters, indeed, it is believed that Japan's military aim in North China is less to inflict injury upon China — just one of those unfortunate by-products of higher military purpose — than it is to provide the Japanese Army with a further bulwark against Russia. What was not wholly provided for in the Japanese programme was the steadfastness of purpose revealed by Nanking. The picture painted by the military was swift disposal of the 29th Army and an acquiescent Central Government. The strong front put up has caused consternation in Tokyo, led to the complete withdrawal of Japanese residents from Shanghai throughout China, other than the two principal seaports in which Japan is militarily interested, Shanghai and Tsingtao, and, temporarily, at all events, to delay in carrying out the programme mapped out in Hanoi.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei put his finger at the key to China's position in declaring that it would be folly either to over-estimate or to under-estimate her strength. Chiang Kai-shek is stronger than ever before in his career. It was on the support of the guilds in the Yangtze valley that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek built his dictatorship. Through them he extended it. For a long time, however, he was not able to draw to his support the guilds of the south in Canton, or those of the north, in Shantung and Hopei. But Canton turned over at a happy moment and when the Japanese entered on their campaign to flood the country with their goods through East Hopei the guilds found a good reason to get together. It is largely because of their influence that China is at last able to present a united front to the Tokyo militarists.

Meantime, the statesmen of Japan are still endeavouring to calculate just what a war with China might mean.

More than 35 years ago American and British military experts were asked to estimate how big an army would be needed to occupy China. They said it would have to be at least 800,000 strong. That was in Boxer Rebellion days before China's army was modernised. At present at least that number would be needed even to attempt to take and hold the principal seaports against China's 1,900,000 more or less efficient troops.

Another army of at least 500,000 men would be needed to guard against a Russian invasion of Manchukuo.

To transport and supply such forces would take the whole Japanese merchant marine, and many more ships would have to be acquired. The problem that would then arise for Japan would be how to get the raw materials with which to supply factories and the war machine and how to send out goods that must be sold to keep the nation going? Where get the funds with which to pay costs of buying and shipping? Tokyo has only a small gold supply and cannot get loans anywhere. Its home finances have been strained almost to the breaking point by its deficits for military preparations.

Then, if Russia came in, there would be the danger of raids on all the great Japanese centres of population and industry. But this might not be the worst of the consequences. Russian planes could be used to devastate the fishing fleet, thus striking at Japan's most important food supply. Russian submarines from Vladivostok could be used for this purpose and also against Japanese merchant ships and transport.

It is possible, of course, that the militarists will be able to persuade the Emperor that Japan must strike before it is too late. But the hesitation in the North, plus efforts to compromise on the position as it stands, suggest that moderate opinion in the counsels of the nation realises that the time has passed when a blow can be struck without too grave dangers of prostration.

ZIONISTS IN CONFLICT

Palestine Partition Resolution Controversy

VOTE ADJOURNED TWICE AFTER LONG DEBATES

Zurich, To-day.

The closing stage of the Zionist Congress was marked by a sharp disagreement, necessitating the postponement of the session.

According to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, the extremist group and the anti-partition front were contemplating walking out of the hall in the event of the anti-partition resolution being rejected.

The moderate elements of the anti-partition group, headed by the chairman, Mr. Ussishkin, however, oppose such a demonstration. The exact terms of the motion drafted by the resolutions committee has not yet been published, but it is understood they embody the principles outlined in Dr. Weismann's motion on August 4 and in the Labour Party motion on August 8.

Dr. Weismann, it will be recalled, denied "the fundamental assumption of the unworkability of the mandate," and declared it was not unworkable as much as badly administered by a half-hearted administration, which had failed to make a really serious attempt to work it.

WEISMANN PLAN

He said, however, that the plan for the partition of Palestine, as recommended by the Commission, was not entirely unacceptable, and announced that a resolution would be introduced empowering the Executive to negotiate with the British Government on the question of partition, only if the project satisfied fundamental principles. These principles were, firstly, the Jews in Palestine would be enabled to live their own independent life, as Jews understand the term, and, secondly, that partition would contribute to the solution of the Jewish problem in different countries.

M. Ussishkin, a veteran Zionist, who is one of the principal opponents of partition is President of the Congress.—Reuter.

AGAIN POSTPONED

Zurich, Later.

After a lengthy debate until the early hours of this morning, the Zionist Congress further postponed voting on the resolution until 9.30 a.m. to-day. The result is expected at about noon.—Reuter.

Trans-Ocean reported yesterday that the resolution favoured outright rejection of the partition proposals.

FOUR GREAT POWERS IN ARREARS

London, To-day.

It was revealed at the last meeting of the Chairman's sub-committee of non-intervention committee that many governments parties to the non-intervention agreement, including all except the United Kingdom among the five principal powers, which undertook between them to find 80 per cent. of the cost of the control scheme, had fallen into arrears in payment to the international non-intervention board.

An urgent request was made to the governments in arrears to hasten the payment of past and current contributions.

Estonia, Denmark, the Netherlands, Turkey and the Irish Free State have now paid their dues to date, but the remittances of 15 of the smaller states and of the four great Powers have not yet been received.—British Wireless.

NATIONAL FITNESS CULT IN BRITAIN

London, To-day.

Local authorities have been instructed to build health centres and holiday camps and to appoint instructors for physical training under the National Physical Training and Health Bill.

Facilities for exercise by young men and women including swimming pools and gymnasiums are recommended in the scheme, half the cost of which will be borne by the Government if it is approved.—Reuter.

work of the Mandates' Committee.

The Mandates' Committee will then have concluded its examination of the annual reports and petitions and will deal with the question of the future of Palestine.—

NEW BRITISH GUNBOATS FOR FAR EAST

London, To-day.

The Admiralty have decided to entrust the construction of the two river gunboats of the 1937 programme — Dragonfly and Grasshopper — to Thornycroft's Woolston Works at Southampton.—British Wireless.

BRITISH DEMAND FOR RELEASE OF SHIPS

London, To-day.

Sir Henry Gilton, the British Ambassador at Hendaye, has received instructions to make a formal demand on the Salamanca authorities for the early release of three British vessels, Molton, Candleston Castle and Mirupann, which are being held by the insurgents.—British Wireless.

STEAMER HELD UP BY BASQUE ARMY REFUGEES

Paris, To-day.

Seven loyalist militiamen who had succeeded in escaping from the rebel-controlled seaport of Pasajes, near San Sebastian, arrived at Bayonne after a daring experience.

The militiamen had secretly boarded a Spanish steamer and on the high seas, at the point of a revolver, had forced the captain and crew to land them at Bayonne and where they were interred in the refugee camp.—Trans-Ocean.

Long Conversation With Dr. Schacht

Berlin, To-day.

Dr. H. H. Kung, China's finance Minister, who is on a European tour arranging for credit extensions, yesterday had a long conversation with Dr. Schacht, the German Finance Minister, and it is reported that they discussed the ways and means for the increase in the volume of goods exchanged between China and Germany.

Field Marshal von Blomberg, Chief of the German Army, was present at a luncheon given by Dr. Schacht for Dr. Kung.

To-day Dr. Kung will have conversations at the Wilhelmstrasse with the Minister of State, Von Mackensen.

He will be entertained by Field Marshal von Blomberg to-morrow and on Friday will again be the guest of Dr. Schacht following which he will leave for Prague.

CHINA'S BUDGET

Berlin, To-day.

The State budget of the Chinese National Government for the financial year from July, 1937, to June, 1938, is exhaustively examined by the Berlin "Boersen-Zeitung," the leading financial and economic organ of the Reich capital, and brings the paper to the following conclusions:

"Taking one thing with another, the new budget, both in the manner of presentation and in contents, presents a far better picture than its predecessors.

"When, ultimately, it should prove possible to include in the budget all the revenue and expenditure of the Government—which hitherto has not been the case—the confidence of foreign countries in the stability of the financial status of the country will increase very considerably.

"That it will be all the more so if the Central Government at Nanking is able to put the finances of the provinces and the larger cities on a sound basis and above all to establish a clear relationship between the Central and Provincial administrative." — Trans-Ocean.

ANARCHIST MENACE

Fearing a new Anarchist upheaval, the Catalan authorities have ordered a systematic search of the leaders of the Anarchists to be carried out.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

S. E. Levy and Co.'s report on yesterday New York market operations states:—

Stocks:—Utility securities are stimulated by anticipation of an early adjournment of Congress. Eastern railroad stocks are marking time, awaiting the outcome of the wage situation, whilst lines operating in the West are likely soon to reflect the benefits of the heavy crop movement. Among industrials, copper issues are following the general market trend. These stocks have seemingly discounted the rise in the price of the metal and traders are awaiting third-quarter earnings. Indications point to favourable earnings by copper companies, in view of the heavy demand for the metal at the present levels. Industrial reports, on the whole, continue favourable, but the market is apparently awaiting the adjournment of Congress with its attendant legislative breathing spell. Business done: 690,000 shares.

Rubber:—It is believed that manufacturers will re-enter the market after the present technical correction period has passed. The estimate of Malayan shipments in August has been revised to 60,000 tons, which is most likely to increase bearish sentiment. We think, however, that consumption is proportionately large and we would continue to advise the long-side.

EXCHEQUER'S PART IN HEALTH SERVICES

London, To-day.

Local financial returns for the year 1934/1935 have just been published by the Ministry of Health.

The figures clearly show that it is largely by the help of Government grants that local authorities, especially in the poorer areas, are able to maintain their good standards in health and other social services.

Out of every £100 of expenditure falling on public funds in the average county borough, just over £39 is met, not out of rates, but out of grants from the National Exchequer.

In one case this figure rises to £56.

LONDON LOWEST

In the administrative counties, especially in rural areas where agricultural land pays no rates, the proportion from Exchequer grants is still higher. The average is £47 but in 47 out of 62 counties it is over £50 and in the Isle of Ely, Huntingdon, Montgomery, and Rutland it is over £70. The proportion is lowest in the prosperous counties of the South-East, London being the lowest of all.—British Wireless.

BRITISH TREASURY RETURNS

London, To-day.

Exchequer returns show that the total ordinary revenue amounts to £215,627,473 compared with £201,524,180 at the corresponding date of last year.

Total expenditure, other than self-balancing, is £301,504,958 compared with £282,865,048 at the corresponding date of 1936.—British Wireless.

RIISING IMPORTS OF NETHERLANDS

Amsterdam, To-day.

The value of imports into Holland during the first seven months of 1937 totalled 893,000,000 Guilders as compared with 546,000,000 Guilders during the corresponding period of 1936. The value of exports from Holland during this period has not been published by the Netherlands Statistical Bureau.—Trans-Ocean.

BOAT RAIDS SAIWANHO FOR PIGS

Seven or eight men entered an unnumbered hut in Sai Wan Ho in the early hours of the morning and after tying up one of the two occupants rowed away in a boat. They took with them seven pigs, valued at $95. According to Ho Pun, who made the report, the men were armed with knives and one of them had a torch.

HYDROGENATION OF PETROL

Berlin, To-day.

News has been received here from the Standard Oil Co. of California that the construction of an oil hydrogenation plant in San Francisco for the generation of high-grade aeroplane petrol has been decided.

High pressure hydrogenation process will be employed. The patent rights concerned are held in the United States by the Standard I. G. Company, founded jointly by the Standard Oil Company of America and the I. G. Farben Company of Germany.

The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey has already set up oil hydrogenation plants in the New Jersey and Louisiana for making a variety of oil products. Other oil firms are said to be planning the construction of similar oil plants, using the licenses of the Standard — I. G. Farben Co. — Trans-Ocean.

COLONY HARDCOURT TOURNAMENT

WILL BE WELL SUPPORTED

LEADING PLAYERS WHO MAY BE PARTICIPATING

(By "ADREM")

ALTHOUGH very few names have as yet been received by the United Services Recreation Club for their hardcourt tournament, there are still several days before entries definitely close, and, from enquiries I have made, there is every reason to believe that U.S.R.C. will have all the support they deserve.

Owing to the expense involved in construction, there is very little hardcourt tennis played in Hong Kong, with the result that Leagues and other competitions are governed to an abnormal degree by the weather.

THE ADVANTAGES OF THE HARDCOURT GAME ARE NUMEROUS. THE SURFACE BEING UNIFORM, A FAR MORE ACCURATE GAME CAN BE PLAYED, WITH OBVIOUS BENEFITS TO BEGINNERS AND EXPERTS ALIKE. IN THE CASE OF THE FORMER, THERE IS NO CAUSE TO WORRY ABOUT AN UNTRUE BOUNCE BECAUSE THE INDIFFERENT COURTS TO BE FOUND IN MOST LOCAL CLUBS MAKE FOR. AS A RESULT, MORE ATTENTION CAN BE PAID TO FOOTWORK, THE BASIS OF THIS, AND ALL OTHER BALL GAMES. THE FASTER GAME AND HIGHER BOUNCE ALSO ENSURE THAT THE EYE IS KEPT ON THE BALL.

As regards the experts, they are able to concentrate on the general speeding up of their groundstrokes. Being quite certain that the bounce will be accurate, they can take the ball on the rise, as exploited by all first-class players in the game to-day.

On the other hand, the hard court, especially in Hong Kong where the sun beats down so unmercifully in the Summer, is extraordinarily tiring to play on, and that combined with the expense, and the fact that most club grounds are used for games other than tennis, and it is impracticable to lay down hardcourts, has been the chief reason why more courts have not been laid out in the Colony.

INSUFFICIENT KEENNESS

These difficulties, however, with a little thought and application, could all be surmounted if there were sufficient keenness. I am inclined to the opinion that the real reason why more clubs have not bothered about hardcourts is that their members have not had the opportunities of playing on them and thus appreciating their advantages.

Apart from the fact that Colony tennis players have been grouching for years at the lack of organised open competitive play, I am quite certain that those who avail themselves of this opportunity, have their preliminary practice on the courts which the U.S.R.C. have so considerably placed at their disposal, and at the worst, play only one match in the tournament, will be converted to the advantages and pleasures of playing on these really excellent courts.

FULL OF PRAISE

This was rather borne out by remarks passed by one of our leading tennis players. One who has taken part in numerous tournaments over a period dating back many years. After a practice knock-up at the U.S.R.C. last week, he came away full of praise for the enjoyable game he had just played.

"Without any doubt or exception" he said, "The court I have just played on, is the finest I have encountered in all my local experience. I am firmly of the conviction that every Club should have at least two similar courts."

If these views are shared by other competitors, and I think they will be, there will very likely be initiated, a strong movement for the construction of hardcourts and with most of the leading clubs in the Colony represented in the present tournament, I foresee a great boom in the game in the not so distant future.

A. L. SULLIVAN

FULLY SUPPORTED

From enquiries made among various leading local players, there seems to be little doubt that U.S.R.C. will meet with all they support they deserve. In contrast to the lackadaisical attitude usually adopted by locals towards anything new, most players feel very grateful to the U.S.R.C. for giving them the opportunity of taking part in a tournament, which coming towards the end of the League season, finds them all in excellent practice, and they intend to give their full support.

I have been given to understand that the following will be among those entering for the tournament:—

SINGLES

S. A. Bumjahn, H. D. Bumjahn, E. C. Fincher, G. Bodiker, A. V. Gosano, George Chos, M. A. Oliveira, A. E. P. Guest, S. A. Gray, A. Crawford and F. K. Kwok.

DOUBLES

H. D. and S. A. Bumjahn, A. V. Remedios and J. Goncalves, E. C. Fincher and G. Bodiker, L. Goldman and A. L. Sullivan, J. W. Leonard and George Chos, S. A. Gray and A. Crawford, G. Clarke and G. C. Burnett, H. Chan and A. Chan, L. Kwai-fan and Wong Fok-nam, In Tak-chen and Wong Shin-wing, A. V. and B. Gosano, Robert Chos and F. R. Zimmern, H. A. Barros and A. M. Rodrigues, L. A. Silva and J. J. Remedios, E. F. Fincher and D. J. N. Anderson.

SINGLES ABSENTEES

While so far most of the leading Colony have signified their intention of participating in both events, it will be noticed that W. C. Hung, runner-up in the Colony doubles championship with E. C. Fincher, will not be entering, while another notable absentee from the singles is J. W. Leonard, who tells me that owing to a recent illness, he does not feel up to the strenuous singles game. He will very likely be partnering his League partner George Chos, in the doubles, however.

It will be interesting to see how the grass-court champions fare under strange conditions. I should not be surprised to find that normal recognised form will be badly upset. On the other hand, such players as George Bodiker, who was knocked out by Frank Kwok early in the grass-court championships, will be in their element as they have played most of their tennis on hardcourts.

SURPRISES NOT UNEXPECTED

Other players who have never distinguished themselves hitherto in Colony tournaments, are, owing to their types of game, quite likely to spring some surprises. Some very good tennis should be seen and I am looking forward with much interest to the first week in next month when play will commence.

R.H.K. GOLF CLUB TOURNAMENT RESULTS

The following are the results of matches played in the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club (Happy Valley) tournament:—

GODDARD'S BRILLIANT BOWLING

All 10 Wickets In Innings

TATE'S RETURN

London, To-day.

First class cricket which concluded yesterday provided a wealth of interest, many fine feats being recorded, chief among them being Goddard's 10 wickets in an innings and 16 in the match for Gloucester against Worcester, Owen Smith's 5 for 0 in 11 balls for Middlesex in one period in Surrey's first innings, and last but not least, the resurrection of Maurice Tate by Sussex, following a complete collapse of their attack in recent games.

Middlesex, leading contenders for championship honours, only just managed to beat Surrey after starting defeat in the face. Surrey, who batted first, started off in promising fashion and at lunch on Saturday had hoisted 123 runs for the loss of only two wickets. Owen Smith then found his best form and polished off the innings, the remaining eight wickets yielding only 47 runs.

USEFUL STAND

Middlesex found this score too big for them and fell short by 19 runs on first innings. Set to score 228 runs for victory, they lost six wickets for only 92 runs. J. H. Human and Owen Smith then became associated, however, and the required runs were knocked off for the loss of only one more wicket.

Thanks to some typical bowling by Verity, Yorkshire, chief rivals to Middlesex, had little difficulty in beating Warwickshire. Verity captured 14 wickets for 92 runs in the course of the match.

Sussex, following several crushing defeats, returned to form with a convincing win over Kent. Thanks to fine contributions by John Langridge, James Parks and Maurice Tate, they amassed the huge total of 552 in their first innings and this proved too much for Kent, who despite gallant innings by Ashdown and Ames, could only top it by 59 runs in two innings. Sussex secured the necessary runs without loss.

Tate, who has been out of the game for some time, took 4 for 61 in Kent's first innings.

GODDARD AGAIN

Goddard, since his selection for England in the Second Test, has been going from strength to strength.

LAWRENCE'S VICTORY IN 220 YARDS BUT NORMAN LEE MIGHT HAVE WON IF IN CONDITION FAST TIMES RECORDED IN 50 YARDS HEATS WATER POLO VERY DISAPPOINTING

(By "Crawl")

THE many spectators who turned up at the Victoria Recreation Club yesterday evening to witness the Interport swimming and water-polo trials must have felt a trifle disappointed in the results of the races, with the exception of one heat of the 50 Yards.

IN THE 220 YARDS, WILFRED LAWRENCE SECURED A "HOLLOW" VICTORY OVER NORMAN LEE AS THE LATTER WAS NOT FEELING UP TO THE SCRATCH AND FAILED TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE NUMEROUS TURNS, FINISHING, HOWEVER, ONLY THREE SECONDS IN ARREARS OF THE COLONY AND INTERPORT CHAMPION.

Considering that Norman Lee had also swum in the 50 Yards free style, winning the first heat in 25 3-5 secs., he did very well against Lawrence and on yesterday's form stands a very good chance of winning their next encounter over the same distance.

strength. He was in irresistible form against Worcestershire and accomplished the rare feat of taking all 10 wickets in Worcesters' second innings for 116 runs. This is the first time this has been accomplished this season, although J. Mercer, of Glamorgan, also playing against Worcestershire, last season, took all the wickets in one innings.

FRIENDLY

At Chelmsford, New Zealand beat

Chan Wing-kai, who recently smashed the China National record for the 50 Metres free style, confirmed his reputation as a short distance sprinter when he won the second heat of the 50 Yards free-style in 25 3-5 secs., but his chances of making the Interport team are very remote unless he can qualify for some of the other events.

The 220 Yards free style was a very close affair throughout and although two yards separated Lawrence from Norman Lee and A. A. da Roza at the sixth length, and three yards at the finish, there was never any doubt of the result of the race.

Before the commencement, Norman Lee had not quite made up his mind to swim and it was only after persuasion that he finally made up his mind.

Rfm. Hamilton failed to make an appearance and as a result only three swimmers started.

220 DESCRIBED

The first 50 Yards was covered in approximately 30 secs. Lawrence and Roza reaching the wall together, although Norman Lee was only a yard behind. The 100 Yards was covered in 64 secs. approximately, both Roza and Lawrence again reaching the wall together, but at the Harrowgate—Yorkshire v. Scotland.

W. Lawrence, above, Colony and Interport swimming champion, beat Norman Lee in a thrilling 220 yards race at the V.R.C. yesterday.

commencement of the 150 Yards Lawrence drew away from Roza, who was also slightly ahead of Norman Lee.

The sixth length saw Lawrence two clear yards ahead of Roza, who was separated from Norman Lee by a similar distance. The seventh and eighth lengths were very exciting ones and it was evident that Lawrence would not finish anywhere near his record of 2 mins. 23 2-5 secs. He crossed the finishing line in 2 mins. 30 3-5 secs., while Norman Lee spurted and both he and Roza crossed the line in a deadheat for second place in 2 mins. 34.

DISAPPOINTING

The water-polo game which followed was supposed to have been an Interport trial, but owing to many absentees, it was generally conceded a very "poor show" although Calvert, at centre-half for Blues, and A. A. Roza and W. Lawrence, at right-wing and right-back respectively, for Whites, were very good.

Enrique Chan, also in a full-back position, played a very fine game and should make the Interport team.

His unhurried movements and well-directed clearances were a pleasure to watch.

BRITISH EMPIRE GAMES

A GIGANTIC AFFAIR

250 ATHLETES
EXPECTED

(By "THE RANGER")

Sydney, July 8.

With athletes from all parts of the British Empire assembled in Sydney, the British Empire Games of 1938, which are to be held in conjunction with Australia's 150th Anniversary Celebrations, should be one of the greatest sporting gatherings ever seen in Australia. The Games commence with a grand opening ceremony on February 5, 1938, and will continue for one week, concluding on February 12.

Advice received so far indicates that England, South Africa, Canada, India, Scotland, Wales, Ceylon, New Zealand, Trinidad, British Guiana, Rhodesia, Jamaica, and Australia, will definitely be represented at the Games, while replies are also expected at an early date from Newfoundland and Bermuda.

Each contestant at the Games must be a British subject and either born in one of the constituent parts of the Empire or resident therein for six months immediately prior to December, 1937.

THE EVENTS

The sporting events which will comprise next year's Games will be track and field athletics, cycling, boxing, rowing, and sculling, swimming and diving, wrestling (free style), and lawn bowls.

The awards for the Games will consist of a silver-gilt medallion for first place in the individual events with a silver medallion and bronze medallion for the minor placings.

MEDALLIONS

In the team events a silver-gilt medallion will be given to each member of the winning team with silver medallions, and bronze medallions for each member of the teams being awarded second and third prizes respectively. A commemorative medallion will be awarded to each competitor and official.

The numbers expected to come from the various countries are: New Zealand 70, Canada 60, England 40, South Africa 33, Ceylon 9, Scotland 8, Wales 6, Rhodesia 5, Southern Rhodesia 3, British Guiana 1, Trinidad 1.

That means a total of 236 are expected at the moment. Meanwhile in Australia now, athletes of all the sports are carefully drawing up training schedules that will bring them to their peak by the time of the selection of the Australian teams. With the Empire Games in the background, it seems certain that all the Empire Games sports will be in for a boom this coming summer.

"ONLY A MIRACLE COULD HAVE SAVED US"

I will not hear of our captain, Charles Whitcombe, being blamed for his tactics in the Ryder Cup. He knew how the boys were playing, and it was none too encouraging for him. In his heart he felt that we could win only if all the players struck form together—a miracle.—Henry Cotton.

ENGLISH XI DAZZLES "AUSSIES"

KANGAROOS' ENGLAND RUGBY TEAM

NOT MANY STARS INCLUDED

QUEENSLAND NETTLED

(By "THE CYNIC")

Sydney, July 8.

Queensland Rugby Union circles have reason to be disappointed.

The Australian selectors, in choosing the twenty-eight for the English tour, did not pay any particular compliment to the men of the maroon.

In the fourteen forwards there are only two from that State, L. Heidke, a very solid heavy-weight, for the centre, and E. Collins, the fast loose lock man.

Only four Queensland backs are included. Three of these were certainties, viz., J. Beardon (centre three-quarter), D. McLean (wing three-quarter), and F. Gilbert (scrum half). In addition, G. K. Whittle, the Toowoomba full-back, has been chosen.

It was thought the committee might determine not to select a second special full-back. Of course, L. Ward, the other man in the position, is quite a class centre three-quarter, having played in that position a good deal and ably.

FOUR CENTRES

The four centre three-quarters are J. Beaton, R. McKinnon, J. Beardon, and B. Williams. Beaton and Williams would also be first-class on the wing. Beaton is fit for any sort of match as full-back, centre three-quarter, or wing three-quarter. Williams, a 13-stone tireless young player, looks the sort to develop into a top-notch wing man, if any of the four chosen wing players fail to strike top form or develop sufficiently for the Tests.

Whether Hazelton and Dawson are better wing men than the Queenslanders, Robison, is a question. Robison did not receive many opportunities in Sydney. Hazelton and Dawson revealed admirable qualities in the country matches. They have promise of fuller development on tour.

ONLY ONE FIVE-EIGHTH?

Are the selectors wise in choosing only one five-eighth?

Norman is a champion of his own particular type. But one holds that R. Banham, a different type in the position, would have been a good selection. A tour in England might see him become a champion of the fast, straight-running type.

NORTH SYDNEY HALF-BACK

In determining on three scrum half-backs the committee had to discriminate between several for third place. P. Williams and F. Gilbert were certainties. R. Thompson, the chosen North Sydney half-back, has been shaping well. Nippy and versatile, he is young, and has played some very fine games. If he strikes form in goal-kicking, he will be of material help to P. Williams and J. Beaton in that direction—a very important point in scoring. R. McCarter and T. Grahame were good enough to have been in the running for this place.

FORWARDS SOLID

The fourteen forwards are all fine players, some very heavy and tough in rucks and scrummages, and all well-salted by hard Rugby. Thornton, the Queensland forward, looked good enough to win a place. A. Norval, Eastern Suburbs lock forward, who is chosen, plays above his weight, and is always on the go. But whether he will develop on team-lines after the manner of Prigg is doubtful. Eastern Suburbs are a great team to watch, their combination wonderful. Norval, however, is an exception. He goes "on his own" quite too much.

Tommy Farr, English heavy-weight boxing champion, is shown in a fighting pose at his training camp in England. He is said to be in serious training for his coming bout with the newly crowned world's champion, Joe Louis, on August 26, in New York's Yankee Stadium.

Queensland might reasonably have had a stronger forward representation than two, and another back.

This team includes few outstanding stars. But its possibilities are very good provided that the team is cleverly captained, and the tactics are devised on the best lines to counter each opposing team, especially those of England in the Tests.

H. Narvo, J. Roser, and R. Banham, among the New South Wales players, are unlucky to miss selection, apart from the Queenslanders.

COMPLETE TEAM

The Kangaroos team for England selected by Messrs. W. Webb, A. Gray (N.S.W.), J. Stephenson, and J. Tennison (Queensland), with H. Gilbert (N.S.W.), arbitrator, comprises:—

Full-backs: L. Ward (North Sydney, N.S.W.), G. K. Whittle (Toowoomba, Queensland).

Wing Three-quarters: D. McLean (Ipswich, Queensland), Fred Tolley (Eastern Suburbs, N.S.W.), C. Hazelton (Port Kembla, N.S.W.), L. Dawson (Newcastle, N.S.W.).

Centre Three-quarters: J. Beardon (Queensland), J. Beaton (Eastern Suburbs, N.S.W.), R. McKinnon (Eastern Suburbs, N.S.W.), P. Williams (Bom Suburbs, N.S.W.).

Half-Backs: F. Gilbert (Queensland), P. Williams (South Sydney, N.S.W.), R. Thompson (North Sydney, N.S.W.).

Forwards: Ray Stehr (Eastern Suburbs, N.S.W.); James Gibbs (Newcastle, N.S.W.); Frank Curran (South Sydney, N.S.W.); F. Griffiths (Balmain, N.S.W.); S. Pearce (Eastern Suburbs, N.S.W.); E. Lewis (South Sydney, N.S.W.); L. Heidke (Queensland); H. Pierce (Eastern Suburbs, N.S.W.); G. MacLennan (Cooma, N.S.W.); W. Prigg (Newcastle, N.S.W.); E. Collins (Queensland); A. Norval (Eastern Suburbs, N.S.W.); Percy Farrall (St. George, N.S.W.); and F. Nolan (North Sydney, N.S.W.). The hookers are Farrall and Nolan.

"DRAUGHTSMEN" SOCCER WIN AGAINST NEW SOUTH WALES

BERNARD JOY'S FINE PERFORMANCE

HEAVY GOING SUITS TOURISTS

DON'T be surprised if Australia chalks up her first Soccer victory at the expense of an English team next Saturday, writes A. J. Boyd in the Sydney Referee of July 8. The English amateur side, after a triumphal tour of New Zealand, made their debut in Australia on Saturday. They beat New South Wales 3-1, but the local lads gave them the biggest shock they could have got outside the City power house.

"THE REFEREE" FORECAST AN ENGLISH VICTORY, THOUGH SHOCKS FOR THE ENGLISHMEN WERE PRESCRIBED ON POSTERS AND IN THE HEADLINES. THE ENGLISHMEN GOT THEM APLENTY, AND IT WAS JUST AS WELL FOR THEM THAT SYDNEY CRICKET GROUND RESEMBLED A GLUE POT.

Probably the biggest handicap our players suffered, however, was their first taste of the three-back game. Instead of having to beat two backs they found the big blonde centre-half, Bernard Joy, parked between the pair of them all afternoon, and he is acknowledged to be one of the best centre-halves in the world. As an Arsenal player he has rubbed shoulders with England's best professionals.

His head work was a revelation, he could kick balls from all angles, and twice his uncanny anticipation in the goal mouth saved the side when the crowd were ready to roar at a N.S.W. success.

The three-back game might not be too hot if the centre-half were a normal individual, but Joy is a wizard. He was easily the star player on the field.

CONDITIONS TOLD TALE

The soil in the centre of Sydney Cricket Ground is coliferous, and in wet weather resembles a huge sticky wicket.

Our players do not sparkle under such conditions. The Englishmen, on the other hand, got accustomed to the pitch early in the piece, and for the full 90 minutes they wheeled, turned, and passed the ball with a degree of accuracy which our men could not attain.

After the match the English managers, Messrs. Wreford, Brown, and Tom Thorne, inspected the pitch, and as they dug in their heels, they both told me they had seen nothing like it.

IN BETTER CONDITION

Not only the three-back game beat the Australians. The tourists were in better shape. Arthur Stollery is the last word in getting a side into condition, and the crowd gaped during the week when the ex-Air Force instructor had his players going through a series of exercises they had seen only in gymnasiums and school yards.

During the second half our men were in second gear, and when one remarked to Harris, "I've got my chap puffing," he replied, "Yes, and they've got all of us that way, too."

BIG OPEN SPACES

The Englishmen always insist upon one of their party acting as linesman, and when the wag of the party, little Freddie Davis, was handed a red flag, he asked in all seriousness, "Can't I have a steam roller, too?"

Being accustomed to grounds upon which the fences virtually act as touchlines, the Englishmen, for a while, could not get their bearings on the spacious pitch, but after a while they fell into gear. Before this, however, Lloyd, the home outside left, had fired in a hard drive for Woolcock to attract attention by the manner in which he beat the ball down before clearing. Finch made a pretty run and a nice cross, but Woolcock was soon busy again at the other end.

DRAUGHTS

When play settled down in the centre the Englishmen gave their first display of "draughts."

The ball was pushed along the ground at a great rate with every man in position and taking it in his stride. Twice they were within easy reach of McNabb, but in trying to make things easy they passed the ball backwards in front of goal and lost it.

When Quill got the ball he had his first experience of "policeman" Joy. As a matter of fact, Joy did not leave Quill all afternoon, and when the final whistle sounded the Wall-send player remarked, "I'll never forget that chap as long as I live. He even walked off the field with me after the match, and he was the last chap in the world I wanted to see."

WORRIED

Before the game had been long in progress Joy had to concede a corner save, and a series of attacks by the home team almost succeeded.

The tourists looked very worried for a while, and with a little luck the home side would have been ahead after 10 minutes play. At the other end, McNabb ran out and took the ball off Parr's toes, and Harris, in trying to clear, hit a post but as against this, the Blues were having an equal share of the game.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE FOOTBALL

Aberdeen Just Back
From S. Africa

M'GRORY AND THE CELTIC

Glasgow, July 10.
Calling-up notices for training will be in operation in at least one senior football camp in Scotland next week, and in a fortnight's time practically all the League club players will be back to duty. The new season will open on August 14 on a familiar note. Rangers, still another Scottish League flag to display, and Celtic, holding the Scottish Cup for the fifteenth time, await challengers with no great expectation that confident challengers will be forthcoming.

After playing 15 matches in South Africa during the close season, Aberdeen can hardly expect to reveal their best form in the fore part of the season. There is more hope of a bright start by the Heart of Midlothian and Motherwell, the clubs who tied for fourth place on the League table last term.

Much, of course, will depend on how the Tynecastle and Fir Park teams are served at centre-forward, and whether their defence can be made more dependable. Motherwell certainly made a strong finish in the spring. They lost but one League match after the New Year—and it was with the Rangers in opposition—whereas the Hearts lost 7, the Celtic 5, Aberdeen 4, and the Rangers 2.

MOTHERWELL REVIVAL

The figures suggest that Motherwell may be on the eve of a revival. It would help the reviving process if the Rangers and the Celtic do not get too far in front at the outset, and in that connection centre-forward problems may play a part. There was a big slump in the Rangers' scoring last season, and the team had many narrow escapes. The Celtic had wonderful service from M'Grory, but it is doubtful if the miracle can be repeated another year.

How the Hearts will stand in the matter is as difficult to estimate as ever. They missed a big chance last season, and it is rather significant that two of their earliest matches are to take place at Perth and Falkirk, where rather baffling falls were made at critical points of last year's campaign. Let us hope that Manager Moss will impart some "fighting spirit" into his team at an early stage in the battle.

A CRICKET TRUTH

Batsmen of the physique and stamina, and above all, stroke-making ability of the Fry and McLaren of 1933 are nowhere in the game now. The only possible exception to this is Bradman. That is a cricket truth which, I fear, is not everywhere accepted.—E. H. D. Sewell.

ENGLISH XI DAZZLES

"AUSSIES"

TERRIFIC SHOT

A beautiful touch was a "back-header" by Mathews as the ball flew across from Parr, but McNabb saved. Crowhurst was again to the fore with some lovely touches, and when he fired in a shot from short range it struck Joy on the forehead. He admitted later that the ball hit him before he saw it.

Eastham showed how a forward should shoot when he took a free-kick from 25 yards range. The ball flew at McNabb, who said it was one of the hardest shots he had handled in his life.

GOALLESS FIRST HALF

The teams turned round without a goal on the board, but Parr should have gone close immediately after the resumption instead of dallying with the ball. McNabb made some nice saves, and play hovered round him for a good deal of his half.

After play had been in progress 57 minutes FINCH put England in the lead from close range. England was playing the wing to wing game now and running the home team off their legs. Whitelaw and Harris were not holding the tourists' front line. MATHEWS scored a second goal, and before the finish FINCH pushed through another. HUGHES reduced the lead and the game ended in a win for—

DENIAL OF NANKOW FIGHTING

CHOLERA RUMOUR FALSIFIED

Wild rumours circulating in Kowloon regarding the extent of the cholera outbreak, insisting that minimising, inaccurate figures were being supplied to the newspapers in order that a panic should not develop, were scouted by the Medical Department this morning.

"We cannot be responsible for rumours," said an official to the "China Mail," "but the figures supplied to the Press are the same as those which go to H.E. the O.A.G. and all other sources, and are, of course, correct."

The importance of inoculation, however, cannot be too strongly impressed upon the public.

26 CASES LAST WEEK

During last week, the seven days up to noon on Saturday, 26 cholera cases were reported to the Health Officer, of which five were imported. Twenty-two occurred in Victoria and four in Kowloon. Twenty-four cases ended fatally.

There were also 19 cases of typhoid with seven deaths, and 21 cases of dysentery with 7 deaths. Ten of the typhoid cases occurred in Victoria and four in Kowloon. Fifteen dysentery cases occurred in Victoria with four in Kowloon.

Ninety-four deaths occurred from various forms of tuberculosis.

In the 24 hours ended at noon yesterday, seven additional cholera cases were reported, including two from Kowloon.

NO TRACE OF MISSING MEN

Hope that any of the three members of the crew of the C.N.A.C. plane Chekiang, which was wrecked following a forced landing off Chilang Point last Sunday, have escaped with their lives, has now almost definitely been abandoned.

Search is still being carried out for the bodies of the victims. Co-Pilot Ohrnberger, Radio Operator N. A. Chen, and Steward F. H. Chen. A Customs cruiser is standing by the hulk, which has not yet been salvaged, and the entire vicinity is being thoroughly scoured.

REWARD OFFERED

A substantial reward has been offered by C.N.A.C. and it is hoped that one of the many sampans in the district will discover the bodies and come forward to claim.

A likely theory that all the bodies were trapped in the fore part of the plane, which was severed on contact with the water, is also being investigated and efforts are being made to locate the missing section.

A Chinese woman, Ah-Lan, has been admitted to the Queen Mary Hospital suffering from the effects of immersion. She jumped into the harbour yesterday opposite the No. 2 Police Station.

No Specific Demands Yet Presented

Shanghai, To-day.

The bodies of Sub-Lieutenant Ohyama and Seamen Saito were cremated this morning and a special funeral ceremony will be held this afternoon by the Japanese Naval Landing Party.

The atmosphere is tense in the absence of any clear indications of what the Japanese Landing Party are likely to do.

As far as is known, no direct demands have yet been made upon the Mayor of Greater Shanghai, Mr. O. K. Yui, but this is taken to mean that the Japanese are merely waiting for the completion of the investigation, which will, they are convinced, present them with the strongest possible case, and will then present demands which the Chinese authorities are certain to reject.—Our Own Correspondent.
